Yes fellow students--this is it. What you have all been waiting for. The first issue of Venango's student newspaper. It is called The Voice, and the staff will welcome any contributions from the student body. There will be a suggestion and contribution box in the lobby.

A contest is being held in search of a masthead. Anyone can enter. All you have to do is draw a masthead and submit it to a member of the newspaper staff. All drawings must be submitted by midnight, Oct. 10. The winner will receive a prize of five dollars.

The Staff

From the office of James Hamilton: for excused absences, the dorm students must go to Mr. Hamilton to report illness by 10:00 and must see a doctor. Commuting students are to inform the Administrative Office by 10:00.

The students are again reminded not to park in the lower lot.

Student Senate: The final tabulation of the senate elections give these results as members:

Fresh: Missy Graham, Dan McGuire, Leslie

Scharch, Pam Thompson, Dave Wilhelm.

The senate convened and elected as president. Jim Durst--Vice President Dave Wilhelm--Secretary Leslie Scharch.

An excursion to Pittsburgh is planned for October 27, to see an original cast production of God Spell at the Nixon Theatre. This show is one of the best productions of the past few years. According to many critics God Spell is of the same caliber as Hair, and Jesus Christ Superstar, a show that shouldn't be missed. Prices for orchestra and Mezzanine tickets are $7.00.

Baiting tickets are 2, 4, & 3 dollars. Special prices will be provided for groups of 35 or more. Money must be in by Oct. 7. All those interested should see Tom Yarnall and sign up in the lobby. This is an excellent opportunity to visit Pittsburgh and to see a superb show.

One of the major issues facing our campus at this time is visitation. On the evening of September 19, Hall Council met for the first time to begin the writing of the constitution that will give us visiting privileges.

Although it is up to Hall Council to write a constitution, they must abide by the guidelines set by the College.

These guidelines state that the dormitories may be open from 1:00 P.M. to 11:00 P.M. on weekdays, and 1:00 P.M. to 1:00 A.M. on weekends. They also say that all visitors must be escorted. No one is permitted to have visitors in their room without the consent of their roommate.

Students must act in a responsible manner. Visitation will be going on during week nights, and some members of our student body will want to study or to sleep. Therefore, loud, rowdy parties would be distracting to a studious individual.

It is up to us, the students of Venango Campus, to see that a visitation policy is voted upon, and carried through. We must behave like mature and responsible adults. It is up to each student to be aware of the hours open for visitation, and to have visitors leave by the time posted.

If we agree to follow the guidelines set by the college, and do not misuse visitation, see no reason why we should have any problems in acquiring a visitation policy.

Another Sleepless Night

It was two o'clock, Wednesday morning, September 20, the men's side of Montgomery Hall was still and peaceful. All of a sudden, a piercing scream was emitted from Jim Durst's room. Jim had woke up to the sound of dripping water, and thinking it was raining, he ran to close the window. To his surprise he was standing in about two inches of water.

About five minutes after Jim had discovered that his room was flooded, Tim Carr came running down the steps screaming, "Man the Lifeboats." He had discovered, on his way to the men's room, that someone had plugged up the flow drains and turned the water on. After treading water for five minutes, Tim unplugged the sinks and the flood water started to subside.

The guys in the dorm helped in cleaning up the mess and put everything back in order. As of yet, they have no suspects, but if they find out who did it--"Beware," your sleep will be interrupted by the squirt of shaving cream!!

The Studio Theatre of Venango Campus will produce "the Serpent" a ceremony by Jean Claude VanItallia. The Campus production will be directed by Tom Yarnal.

"the Serpent" translates the story of Genesis into the language of the modern theatre. The play's theme is that the original sin of Adam and Eve is the basis of many of our actions today. The plot angles the Biblical setting with enactments of recent events, drawing connections between the two.

"I. B. T. C." "Hiiiiii!"

Recently a new sorority has arisen at Venango Campus. Originated by a handful of second floor beauties, it has grown to immense proportions. The amount of information which can be revealed at this time is limited, because this organization is TOP SECRET, but officers have been elected. Girls of I.B.T.C., we salute our first local sorority here at Venango.
